

Community Outreach at the BSO

An important component of the Boston Symphony's mission is to encourage music education and strengthen ties with our surrounding communities.

In support of this, members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra perform Community Chamber Concerts for thousands of children and adults throughout New England each year.

Boston Symphony Orchestra Community Chamber Concerts introduce the magic of the Boston Symphony concert experience to people in the Greater Boston area and provide an opportunity for families to spend quality time together.

Sunday Community Chamber Concerts are followed by a casual reception where audience members and musicians can meet to talk about music, the Boston Symphony, and much more.

This season we're proud to present thirteen free Community Chamber Concerts performed at the NU Fenway Center on Fridays at 1:30pm and at various sites across the Boston area on Sundays at 3pm. Admission is free, but you must reserve tickets prior to the concert. To reserve tickets, please call SymphonyCharge at 617-266-1200 or 888-266-1200.
